Content Focus

Neurology® Open Access, a member of the Neurology® family of journals of the American Academy of Neurology, is an open access, peer-reviewed online journal that publishes original research articles, scholarly reviews, case reports, and study protocols in all areas of neurology and the clinical neurosciences. The journal prioritizes papers that are relevant to clinicians, clinical researchers, policy makers, and patients. Accepted articles are published online as soon as they are accepted and copyedited, and then compiled into an online issue quarterly.

- Extends access to data from recent and ongoing clinical trials beyond conference attendees
- Familiar format encourages deeper engagement and practical understanding for clinical application
- Author voice-over highlights key data points, implications, and brand challenges
- Expands understanding across specialties, including neurology and neuromuscular care

Reprints

Print Reprints

Hard-copy reprints provide a credible leave-behind with staying power. HCPs read them, share them with colleagues, discuss them with patients, and save them for future reference. Leave behind after your sales force detail, distribute at your conference or meeting booth or polybag alongside journal subscriber copies. Visit our reprints portal and search our database to find the right article for your campaign needs.

Digital Reprints

Deliver the same journal content in electronic form and offer the added benefit of controlling and tracking the content. Leverage digital media to provide HCPs with critical content from the journals they know and trust. Embed an ePrint link into your advertising, share during a detailing call or email your licensed PDF directly to healthcare professionals. Visit our reprints portal and search our database to find the right article for your campaign needs.
